STEPPING OUT

This is a hilarious comedy about a hapless group of tap dancing amateurs, overcoming their trials and tribulations – and two left feet – in a dingy North London Church hall.

Mavis, a former professional chorus girl tries her hardest to teach the bumbling amateurs at least some dance skills for an upcoming charity performance.

But before the dancing begins, Mavis must mediate the personal dramas that erupt among this motley but loveable crew on their way to triumph at their performance.
